The information presented on this post is believed to be factual and up-to-date, but we do not guarantee its accuracy and it should not be regarded as a complete analysis of the subjects discussed. Comments should not be construed as an offer to buy or sell, or a solicitation of an offer to buy or sell the investments mentioned. A professional adviser should be consulted before implementing any of the strategies discussed. Investments involve varying degrees of risk, and there can be no assurance that any specific investment or strategy will be suitable or profitable for a client's portfolio. All investment strategies can result in profit or loss.

Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) investing is qualitative and subjective by nature. There is no guarantee that the criteria used or the investments selected will reflect the beliefs or values of any particular investor. ESG strategies may limit the types and number of investment opportunities available, which could cause a portfolio to underperform the broader market or other strategies that do not utilize ESG criteria. Past performance of ESG-related investments is not an indicator of future results, and there is no assurance that an ESG-oriented approach will result in better performance or lower risk.
